12V TrailerCheck Plus Remote Controlled Light Trailer Light Tester

The 12 V TrailerCheck Plus Tester is designed to make the testing and repair of trailer lights faster and much simpler.

TrailerCheck Plus is specifically designed to make life very much easier for all those who service caravans and trailers for a living, TrailerCheck Plus is constructed with a robust aluminium case and has its own power-source, TCheck Plus has enclosed batteries to make the tester portable for site or factory workshop use.

Plug the TrailerCheck Plus in to the 12N and simply take the handset control and walk around the trailer checking the lights and side markers as you go. If there are no faults unplug the TrailerCheck – job done.

Where 12V TrailerCheck Plus really scores is when there is a fault!

The TrailerCheck Plus will hold power on the faulty circuit leaving both your hands free while you trace the problem. Then if you need to work on the circuit you use the handset to switch the power to another light or off altogether. You can then make the repair without risking a short circuit, switch the power to re-do the test without needing to move from the place where you are working.

As there is no need to keep walking back and forth to tow a vehicle, the test and repair times are really very quick even when you have more than one fault.

TrailerCheck Plus can be recharged by a mains supply or van power socket (optional extra lead), included within the package is a spare remote controller.

Each handset has an aerial, this is included for workshops with large metal obstructions which may reduce the range.

The wooden packing crate can also be used as a "Docking Station" by fixing to a wall or in a van for mobile engineers.
